Part of visiting Oregon's Mt. Hood Territory is choosing from the abundance of lodging options. Visitors can get cozy by the fireplace while taking in a view of Mt. Hood's peak at historic Timberline Lodge or opt for something more remote at one of numerous mountain cabins, condos and RV / camping sites. Year-round recreation abounds just outside the door of full-service resorts or condominiums in the Villages of Mt. Hood and the past comes to life at many historic B&Bs, where owners have lovingly restored properties. Visitors will find many convenient hotel and motel accommodations off I-5 and I-205 to fit any budget.
